To whom it may concern,

It gives me pleasure to write a reference for Warwick Pascoe from DC Communications for his presentations to Orewa College of 'A Making of a Masterpiece' – an interactive media display explaining the development of an embryo to the birth of a child.

This presentation is outstanding and I highly recommend it to students of all ages. Although I was at first hesitant about inviting Warwick to speak to our students regarding the nature of this, I decided it linked nicely with the health curriculum so I thought I would give it a try. Warwick truly engages the students with both his enthusiasm and passion for this subject and the students are entertained for the whole hour. He is extremely energetic and with his aids of pictures, models, video and props students are fascinated with all aspects of this presentation.

I can recommend Warwick to other schools, presenting to both junior and senior level students. I am sure all students would be impressed and I hope that we will see him again this year at Orewa College.
