To whom it may concern

We recently had Warwick visit our school to make his presentation to our Year 10 Science classes. Not knowing what to expect, we were unsure of how suitable this would be for a diverse audience and for science classes.

We were so pleased we took the risk. Warwick is an extremely engaging speaker. He managed to keep the students' interest for the entire presentation, and the teachers were also enthralled.

Warwick managed to weave anecdotal stories and robust science, and he related it all to the students' own experiences. He came fully prepared with all the equipment needed, and was a most pleasant guest. The students really enjoyed hearing this information in such an animated fashion. I would highly recommend this presentation as very suitable for Year 11 and Year 10 Science classes studying genetics and/or reproduction. The minor disruption to your normal day is well worth it and the benefits far outweigh the costs.
