Dear Warwick,

Thank you so much for your presentation last week. It was engaging enough to keep all of our students interested, even with their various levels of understanding and knowledge. They also appreciated being able to hold the props you had brought with you.

The message that each of the students is a masterpiece came through clearly and was very encouraging, especially for those that had never thought of themselves as such.

Although in our email conversation you said you would deliver this presentation as a trial, we feel it was so beneficial for our students personally (and as a foundation for our teaching of child development) that we would like to contribute towards your costs.

We would love to have you back again next year.

Yours faithfully

Tara Talbot
