

'The Making of a Masterpiece'

During Term 2, Warwick Pascoe presented 'The Making of a Masterpiece' to a large number of our Year 9 and 10 learners. The feedback I received from teachers is stated below:

- "The learners were quite interested and overall enjoyed the presentation."
- "Some of the information went over their heads, but on the most part was educational and the learners were focussed."
- "The learners in my class were interested for the majority of the session. Some of the information presented would have been better suited for some of our other subjects (maybe Biology/Science) but the majority of it was aimed at the right age level."
- "It would have been beneficial if we could have linked it to some of the units we were doing in the school (from either Health or Science) but believe it is a worthwhile presentation"

I personally would recommend this presentation to any school. I believe it could fit in with the Science curriculum as well as both Junior and Senior Health programmes. Warwick's enthusiasm for the topic keeps learners thoroughly engaged as well as willing to ask questions. His use of resources is fantastic and of great interest to his audience. Overall, it was an interesting presentation delivered by a passionate presenter.
